OTHER MATTERS

Agenda item 5

The Secretary-General a.i. discussed the subjects that will be dealt with by the Organization in the short term: the global economic crisis, environmental protection and the green economy, and influenza A(H1N1).

As for the effects of the crisis, the Secretary-General a.i. pointed out that long-haul destinations were the most affected due, first of all, to the rise in oil prices, the impact on commercial aviation and finally the suspension of flights due to lower demand, which had an impact on all the destinations and led to a gradual decline in the number of arrivals. He also called upon the countries to take greater care in the handling of the issue of pandemics and invited them to contact the corresponding department to obtain more detailed indications in this regard.

He explained the changes he intends to carry out in the Organization upon confirmation by the Executive Council and the General Assembly of his appointment as Secretary-General for the period 2010-2013. He pointed out that the economic situation of the Organization is sound.

The Director of Programme and Coordination reported on the inclusion of the subject of "Sustainable Tourism" in the agenda of the United Nations Environment Programme, and urged the Member States to make their opinions heard regarding the objectives of the document "Stand Up Against Poverty" to which only Uruguay had responded to date.

At the proposal of the delegate of Costa Rica, the Commission adopted the following decision:

The Commission,

Recalling that tourism is an economic and social activity that contributes to the growth and development of economies, to environmental conservation, and to poverty reduction,

Considering also that tourism represents a vital force for peace and a factor of friendship and understanding among peoples, thanks to the direct, spontaneous and non-mediated contact it allows among men and women of different cultures and lifestyles,

Bearing in mind that tourism has experienced continued growth and diversification, becoming one of the key sectors in the world economy and a main source of income for developing countries, and

Acknowledging that the importance of tourism in the world economy requires specific and integrated policy frameworks from governments,

Calls upon UNWTO Member States to consider tourism as a specific and integral national public policy receiving the highest hierarchy in the senior government structure.

CAM/DEC/8(L)

PLACE AND DATE OF THE FIFTY-FIRST

Agenda item 8

Having taken note of the generous invitation extended by the delegation of Venezuela to host the next meeting of the Commission in its country,

1. Decides to hold its fifty-first meeting in that country in the spring of 2010; and
2. Thanks the Government of Kazakhstan for all the attention accorded to the delegates.
