

2017
INTERNATIONAL YEAR
OF SUSTAINABLE TOURISM
FOR DEVELOPMENT

*Version 13 May 2017

Draft Framework Convention on Tourism Ethics

THE HIGH CONTRACTING PARTIES,

Desiring to develop tourism with a view to contributing to economic development, international understanding, peace, prosperity and universal respect for, and observance of, human rights and freedoms for all without distinction of any kind such as race, colour, gender, language, religion, political or other opinion, national or social origin, property, birth or other status,

Considering that tourism has the potential to contribute directly or indirectly to the Sustainable Development Goals of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, and in particular with regard to inclusive and sustainable economic growth, sustainable consumption and production and the sustainable use of oceans and marine resources,

Firmly believing that, through the direct, spontaneous and non-mediatised contacts it engenders between men and women of different cultures and lifestyles, tourism represents a vital force for peace and a factor of friendship and understanding among the peoples of the world,

In keeping with the rationale of reconciling environmental protection, economic development and the fight against poverty in a sustainable manner, as formulated by the United Nations in 1992 at the "Earth Summit" of Rio de Janeiro, expressed in Agenda 21, adopted on that occasion, and reiterated by the "Earth Summits" of Johannesburg in 2002 and Rio in 2012 (Rio + 20),

Taking into account the swift and continued growth, both past and foreseeable, of the tourism activity, whether for leisure, business, culture, religious or health purposes and other special interest tourism products and segments, and its powerful effects, both positive and negative, on the environment, the economy and the society of both generating and receiving countries, on local communities and indigenous peoples, as well as on international relations and exchanges,

Aiming to promote responsible, sustainable and universally accessible tourism in the framework of the right of all persons to use their free time for leisure pursuits or travel with respect for the choices of society of all peoples,

Firmly convinced that, provided a number of principles and a certain number of rules are observed, responsible and sustainable tourism is by no means incompatible with the growing liberalization of the conditions governing the provision of goods and services and under whose aegis the enterprises of this sector operate and that it is possible to reconcile, in this context environment and economic development, openness to international trade and protection of social and cultural identities,

Considering that, with such an approach, all the stakeholders in tourism development – national, regional and local administrations, enterprises, business associations, workers in the sector, non-governmental organizations and bodies of all kinds related to the tourism sector, as well as host communities, the media and the tourists themselves, including excursionists – have different albeit interdependent responsibilities in the individual and societal development of tourism and that the formulation of their individual rights and duties will contribute to meeting this aim,

Emphasizing that, also in the field of tourism, both the State and the enterprises share the responsibility of advancing the protection and respect of human rights in the business context as laid down by the Guiding Principles on Business and Human Rights unanimously adopted by the UN Human Rights Council in its resolution 17/4 of 16 June 2011.

Recalling resolution A/RES/406(XIII) of 1999 adopted by the General Assembly of the World Tourism Organization (hereinafter referred to as “UNWTO”) in which it solemnly adopted the Global Code of Ethics for Tourism,

Recalling resolution A/RES/668(XXI) of 2015 whereby the General Assembly of the UNWTO expressed its wish to convert the Global Code of Ethics for Tourism into a legally binding treaty in order to reinforce its effectiveness at the international and national level,

Considering that the World Committee on Tourism Ethics (hereinafter referred to as “the Committee”) established in 2001 under resolution A/RES/438(XIV) is a subsidiary organ of the UNWTO General Assembly,

Convinced that this Framework Convention (hereinafter referred to as “the Convention”) will enhance the advancement of a more sustainable and ethical tourism as stated in the Global Code of Ethics for Tourism,

Aiming to supplement the present Framework Convention with an Optional Protocol, which is a separate and independent legal instrument, providing a process for the settlement of disputes that can guide and strengthen the implementation of the ethical principles by all stakeholders concerned,

Inspired by the resolutions and decisions related to the implementation of the Global Code of Ethics for Tourism, adopted by the UNWTO General Assembly and the Executive Council,

Reaffirming that, as a specialized agency of the United Nations, UNWTO, as well as its Member States, is guided in its activities by the Charter of the United Nations, relevant United Nations resolutions and the generally accepted norms and principles of international law,

Have agreed as follows:

ETHICAL PRINCIPLES IN TOURISM

Article 4

Tourism's contribution to mutual understanding and respect between peoples and societies

(1) The understanding and promotion of the ethical values common to humanity, with an attitude of tolerance and respect for the diversity of religious, philosophical and moral beliefs, are both the foundation and the consequence of responsible tourism; stakeholders in tourism development and tourists themselves should observe the social and cultural traditions and practices of all peoples, including those of minorities and indigenous peoples and recognize their worth.

(2) Tourism activities should be conducted in harmony with the attributes and traditions of the host regions and countries and in respect for their laws, practices and customs.

(3) The host communities, on the one hand, and local professionals, on the other, should acquaint themselves with and respect the tourists who visit them and find out about their lifestyles, tastes and expectations; the education and training imparted to professionals contribute to a hospitable welcome.

(4) It is the task of the public authorities to provide protection for tourists and their belongings; they must pay particular attention to the safety of foreign tourists owing to the particular vulnerability they may have; they should facilitate the introduction of specific means of information, prevention, security, insurance and assistance consistent with their needs; any attacks, assaults, kidnappings or threats against tourists or workers in the tourism industries, as well as the wilful destruction of tourism facilities or of elements of cultural or natural heritage should be severely condemned and punished in accordance with their respective national laws.

(5) When travelling, tourists should not commit any criminal act or any act considered criminal by the laws of the country visited and abstain from any conduct felt to be offensive or injurious by the local populations, or likely to damage the local environment; they should refrain from all trafficking in illicit drugs, arms, antiques, protected species and products and substances that are dangerous or prohibited by national regulations.

(6) Tourists have the responsibility to acquaint themselves, even before their departure, with the characteristics of the countries they are preparing to visit; they must be aware of the health and security risks inherent in any travel outside their usual environment and behave in such a way as to minimize those risks.

Article 5

Tourism as a vehicle for individual and collective fulfilment

(1) Tourism, the activity most frequently associated with rest and relaxation, sport and access to culture and nature, should be planned and practised as a privileged means of individual and collective fulfilment; when practised with a sufficiently open mind, it is an irreplaceable factor of self-education, mutual tolerance and for learning about the legitimate differences between peoples and cultures and their diversity.

(2) Tourism activities should respect the equality of men and women; they should promote human rights and, more particularly, the individual rights of the most vulnerable groups, notably children, the elderly, persons with disabilities, ethnic minorities and indigenous peoples.

(3) The exploitation of human beings in any form, particularly sexual, especially when applied to children, conflicts with the fundamental aims of tourism and is the negation of tourism; as such, in accordance with international law, it should be energetically combated with the cooperation of all the States concerned and penalized without concession by the national legislation of both the countries visited and the countries of the perpetrators of these acts, even when they are carried out abroad.

(4) Travel for purposes of religion, health, education and cultural or linguistic exchanges are particularly beneficial and deserve encouragement.

(5) The introduction into curricula of education about the value of tourism exchanges, their economic, social and cultural benefits, and also their risks, should be encouraged.

Article 6

Tourism, a factor of sustainable development

(1) All the stakeholders in tourism development should safeguard the natural environment with a view to achieving sound, continuous and sustainable economic growth geared to satisfying equitably the needs and aspirations of present and future generations.

(2) All forms of tourism development that are conducive to saving rare and precious natural resources, in particular water and energy, as well as avoiding so far as possible waste production, should be given priority and encouraged by national, regional and local public authorities.

(3) The staggering in time and space of tourist flows, particularly those resulting from paid leave and school holidays, and a more even distribution of holidays should be sought so as to reduce the pressure of tourism activity on the environment and enhance its beneficial impact on the tourism industries and the local economy.

(4) Tourism infrastructure should be designed and tourism activities programmed in such a way as to protect the natural heritage composed of ecosystems and biodiversity and to preserve endangered species of wildlife; the stakeholders in tourism development, and especially professionals, should agree to the imposition of limitations or constraints on their activities when these are exercised in particularly sensitive areas: desert, polar or high mountain regions, coastal areas, tropical forests or wetlands, propitious to the creation of nature reserves or protected areas.

(5) Nature tourism and ecotourism are recognized as being particularly conducive to enriching and enhancing the standing of tourism, provided they respect the natural heritage and local populations and are in keeping with the carrying capacity of the sites.

Article 7

Tourism, a user of the cultural heritage of mankind and a contributor to its enhancement

(1) Tourism resources belong to the common heritage of mankind; the communities in whose territories they are situated have particular rights and obligations to them.

(2) Tourism policies and activities should be conducted with respect for the artistic, archaeological and cultural heritage, which they should protect and pass on to future generations; particular care should be devoted to preserving and upgrading monuments, shrines and museums as well as archaeological and historic sites which must be widely open to tourism visits; encouragement should be given to public access to privately-owned cultural property and monuments, with respect for the rights of their owners, as well as to religious buildings, without prejudice to normal needs of worship.

(3) Financial resources derived from visits to cultural sites and monuments should, at least in part, be used for the upkeep, safeguard, development and embellishment of this heritage.

(4) Tourism activity should be planned in such a way as to allow traditional cultural products, crafts and folklore to survive and flourish, rather than causing them to degenerate and become standardized.

Article 8

Tourism, a beneficial activity for host countries and communities

(1) Local populations should be associated with tourism activities and share equitably in the economic, social and cultural benefits they generate, and particularly in the direct and indirect creation of jobs resulting from them.

(2) Tourism policies should be applied in such a way as to help to raise the standard of living of the populations of the regions visited and meet their needs; the planning and architectural approach to and operation of tourism resorts and accommodation should aim to integrate them, to the extent possible, in the local economic and social fabric; where skills are equal, priority should be given to local manpower.

(3) Special attention should be paid to the specific problems of coastal areas and island territories and to vulnerable rural or mountain regions, for which tourism often represents a rare opportunity for development in the face of the decline of traditional economic activities.

(4) Tourism professionals, particularly investors, governed by the regulations laid down by the public authorities, should carry out studies of the impact of their development projects on the environment and natural surroundings; they should also deliver, with the greatest transparency and objectivity, information on their future programmes and their foreseeable repercussions and foster dialogue on their contents with the populations concerned.

Obligations of stakeholders in tourism development

(1) Tourism professionals have an obligation to provide tourists with objective and honest information on their places of destination and on the conditions of travel, hospitality and stays; they should ensure that the contractual clauses proposed to their customers are readily understandable as to the nature, price and quality of the services they commit themselves to providing and the financial compensation payable by them in the event of a unilateral breach of contract on their part.

(2) Tourism professionals, insofar as it depends on them, should show concern, in cooperation with the public authorities, for the security and safety, accident prevention, health protection and food safety of those who seek their services; likewise, they should ensure the existence of suitable systems of insurance and assistance; they should accept the reporting obligations prescribed by national regulations and pay fair compensation in the event of failure to observe their contractual obligations.

(3) Tourism professionals, so far as this depends on them, should contribute to the cultural and spiritual fulfilment of tourists and allow them, during their trip, to practise their religions.

(4) The public authorities of the generating States and the host countries, in cooperation with the professionals concerned and their associations, should ensure that the necessary mechanisms are in place for the repatriation of tourists in the event of the bankruptcy of the enterprise that organized their trip.

(5) Governments have the right – and the duty – especially in a crisis, to inform their nationals of the difficult circumstances, or even the dangers they may encounter during their travels abroad; it is their responsibility however to issue such information without prejudicing in an unjustified or exaggerated manner the tourism sector of the host countries and the interests of their own operators; the contents of travel advisories should therefore be discussed beforehand with the authorities of the host countries and the professionals concerned; recommendations formulated should be strictly proportionate to the gravity of the situations encountered and confined to the geographical areas where the insecurity has arisen; such advisories should be qualified or cancelled as soon as a return to normality permits.

(6) The press, and particularly the specialized travel press and the other media, including modern means of electronic communication, should issue honest and balanced information on events and situations that could influence the flow of tourists; they should also provide accurate and reliable information to the consumers of tourism services; the new communication and electronic commerce technologies should also be developed and used for this purpose; as is the case for the media, they should not in any way promote sex tourism.

Article 10

Right to tourism

(1) The prospect of direct and personal access to the discovery and enjoyment of the planet's resources constitutes a right equally open to all the world's inhabitants; the increasingly extensive participation in domestic and international tourism should be regarded as one of the best possible expressions of the sustained growth of free time, and obstacles should not be placed in its way.

(2) The universal right to tourism must be regarded as the corollary of the right to rest and leisure, including reasonable limitation of working hours and periodic holidays with pay, guaranteed by Article 24 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights and Article 7.d of the International Covenant on Economic, Social and Cultural Rights.

(3) Social tourism, and in particular associative tourism, which facilitates widespread access to leisure, travel and holidays, should be developed with the support of the public authorities.

(4) Family, youth, student and senior tourism and tourism for persons with disabilities, should be encouraged and facilitated.

Article 11

Liberty of tourist movements

(1) Tourists should benefit, in compliance with international law and national legislation, from the liberty to move within their countries and from one State to another, in accordance with Article 13 of the Universal Declaration of Human Rights; they should have access to places of transit and stay and to tourism and cultural sites without being subject to excessive formalities or discrimination.

(2) Tourists should have access to all available forms of communication, internal or external; they should benefit from prompt and easy access to local administrative, legal and health services; they should be free to contact the consular representatives of their countries of origin in compliance with the international conventions in force.

(3) Tourists should benefit from the same rights as the citizens of the country visited concerning the confidentiality of the personal data and information concerning them, especially when these are stored electronically.

(4) Administrative procedures relating to border crossings whether they fall within the competence of States or result from international agreements, such as visas or health and customs formalities, should be adapted, so far as possible, so as to facilitate to the maximum freedom of travel and widespread access to international tourism; agreements between groups of countries to harmonize and simplify these procedures should be encouraged; specific taxes and levies penalizing the tourism sector and undermining its competitiveness should be gradually phased out or corrected.

(5) So far as the economic situation of the countries from which they come permits, tourists should have access to allowances of convertible currencies needed for their travels.

Article 12

Rights of the workers and entrepreneurs in the tourism industries

(1) The fundamental rights of workers and entrepreneurs in the tourism industries and related activities should be guaranteed under the supervision of the national and local administrations, both of their States of origin and of the host countries with particular care, given the specific constraints linked in particular to the seasonality of their activity, the global dimension of their industries and the flexibility often required of them by the nature of their work.

(2) Employees and self-employed workers in the tourism industries and related activities should be able to access appropriate initial and continuous training; they should be given adequate social protection; job insecurity should be limited so far as possible; and a specific status, with particular regard to their social welfare, should be offered to seasonal workers in the sector.

(3) Any natural or legal person, provided he, she or it has the necessary abilities and skills, should be entitled to develop a professional activity in the field of tourism under existing national laws; entrepreneurs and investors - especially in the area of small and medium-sized enterprises - should be entitled to free access to the tourism sector with a minimum of legal or administrative restrictions.

(4) Exchanges of experience offered to executives and workers, from different countries, contribute to fostering the development of the world tourism sector; these movements should be facilitated so far as possible in compliance with the applicable national laws and international conventions.

(5) As an irreplaceable factor of solidarity in the development and dynamic growth of international exchanges, multinational enterprises of the tourism industries should not exploit the dominant positions they sometimes occupy; they should avoid becoming the vehicles of cultural and social models artificially imposed on the host communities; in exchange for their freedom to invest and trade which should be fully recognized, they should involve themselves in local development, avoiding, by the excessive repatriation of their profits or their induced imports, a reduction of their contribution to the economies in which they are established.

(6) Partnership and the establishment of balanced relations between enterprises of generating and receiving countries contribute to the sustainable development of tourism and an equitable distribution of the benefits of its growth.

OPTIONAL PROTOCOL

THE HIGH CONTRACTING PARTIES,

Having concluded the Framework Convention on Tourism Ethics (hereinafter referred to as “the Convention”) as a fundamental frame of reference for the development of responsible, sustainable and universally accessible tourism,

Recognizing that disputes in the tourism sector may sometimes seriously disrupt the positive impacts of the sector towards a harmonious socio-cultural and economic development and the advancement of peace and prosperity,

Aiming to supplement the Convention with a separate and independent legal instrument providing a process for the settlement of disputes that can guide and strengthen the implementation of the ethical principles by all stakeholders concerned,

Encouraging all parties to try to resolve all disputes in a peaceful manner before resorting to litigation,

Have agreed as follows:

1. The World Committee on Tourism Ethics (hereinafter referred to as “the Committee”) shall act as an independent and voluntary conciliation mechanism for any dispute that may arise among States Parties to the present Protocol, or stakeholders in tourism development within the limits set out in paragraph 2 below, concerning the interpretation or application of the Convention.
2. Any dispute between two or several States Parties to the present Protocol, or a State Party and one or more stakeholders may be referred to the Committee.
3. In so far as the Parties agree to submit the dispute to the Committee, they shall present written statements, accompanied by all documents and other evidence as deemed necessary to the Chairperson of the Committee who shall appoint a sub-committee of three members responsible for examining the dispute and for formulating recommendations suitable to form the basis of a settlement.
4. In order to adopt relevant recommendations, the sub-committee may ask the Parties for additional information and, if deemed useful, may hear them at their request; the necessary expenses incurred by the conciliation procedure shall be borne by the Parties in dispute. The failure of one of the Parties to appear even though it has been given a reasonable opportunity to participate shall not prevent the sub-committee from adopting its recommendations.
5. Unless otherwise agreed by the Parties in dispute, the Committee shall announce recommendations of the sub-committee within three months from the date on which the dispute was referred to it. The Parties in dispute shall inform the Chairperson of the Committee of any settlement reached on the basis of the recommendations and of any action taken to implement such settlement.
6. If within a period of two months after notification of the recommendations the Parties in dispute have failed to agree on the terms of a final settlement, the Parties may separately or jointly refer the dispute to a plenary session of the Committee.

7. The plenary session of the Committee shall adopt a decision that shall be notified to the Parties in dispute and, if the Parties in dispute agree so, made public. If the Parties in dispute agree with the decision, they will be requested to apply it at the earliest possible opportunity and they shall provide information in due course to the Chairperson of the Committee on the actions they have taken to implement the abovementioned decision.

8. A State Party may, at the time of ratification, acceptance, approval or accession, or any subsequent date, declare that it agrees with respect to any other State Party assuming the same obligation, to consider binding the decision of the Committee in any dispute covered by this Protocol on which no settlement has been reached in accordance with paragraph 4.

9. Tourism establishments and tourism enterprises, as well as their associations, may include in their contractual documents a provision making the decisions of the Committee binding in their relations with their contracting parties.

10. Except in cases where new elements have been submitted to it, the Committee shall not consider matters it has already dealt with (non bis in idem) and will inform the Parties in dispute accordingly.

11. The present Protocol is open to the ratification, acceptance, approval or accession to the States Parties to the Convention. The rules concerning the amendment and denunciation of the Convention shall apply mutatis mutandis to the Protocol. The provisions included in Article 19(2) of the Convention shall not apply to this Protocol. The Protocol shall form an Annex to the Convention for the States having ratified, accepted, approved or acceded to it.

12. Denunciation of the Convention shall involve the immediate denunciation of this Protocol. The denunciation shall take effect one year after the receipt of the instrument of denunciation. However, States Parties denouncing the Protocol shall remain bound by its provisions in respect of any dispute which may have been referred to the Committee before the end of the one-year period provided for above.

13. The Protocol shall enter into force on the thirtieth day following the date of deposit of the second instrument of ratification, acceptance, approval or accession.

14. For each State Party ratifying, accepting, approving or acceding to the Protocol after the deposit of the second instrument of ratification, acceptance, approval or accession, the Protocol shall enter into force on the thirtieth day following the deposit by such State Party of its instrument of ratification, acceptance, approval or accession.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the undersigned, being duly authorized to that effect, have signed the present Protocol.
