10th WORLD CONGRESS ON SNOW AND MOUNTAIN TOURISM

MOUNTAINLIKERS: “Shaping the Future of Hospitality in Mountain Destinations”

21-23 March, 2018, Escaldes-Engordany · ANDORRA

26 March 2018

Background :

- Since 1998, UNWTO has been addressing the field of snow and mountain tourism as a significant tourism activity with a high potential to stimulate local economic growth and social change because of its complementarity with other economic activities, its contribution to GDP, job creation, foreign exchange and services exports.
- The mountain destinations are seeking innovative strategies to respond to the current and future challenges in order to optimize the value of return on investments in infrastructure and to maintain their competitive edge. New technologies, new business models as well as the new consumer behavior all influence the pace and direction of the changes that mountain tourism stakeholders need to adopt.
- Along with innovative and diversified tourism products and services, mountain tourism consumers also seek authenticity, personalized, emotional and quality visitor experience and sense of place in the destination. These market trends also encourage the investors and the operators to embark on the de-seasonalization of the demand.
- The 10th World Congress will mainly address and explore:
 - The current challenges of the accommodation sector and the new paradigms of demand in mountain destinations,
 - The concept of “destination quality” as an important parameter of competitiveness in mountain tourism,
 - Current megatrends, state of the art technologies, new players in the development and management,
 - A strategic approach for integrated planning, efficient governance and knowledge management for sustainable and competitive mountain tourism.
